Grande Canvas

Imposing and Stylish

For a dramatic canvas, the Grande Canvas is one of the most impressive canvas presentations. The canvas is first stretched around our 45mm stretcher bars and then floated into a deep block moulding to give a flush front. Available in either a black or a white finish it is a canvas of the utmost quality and style.

What makes our canvases unique?

Most canvases contain what are known as OBA's (Optical Brightener Agent). These however compromise true colour, deteriorate and yellow over time. Chromata White is an OBA free, acid free, thick canvas that has met and exceeded the standards set by the Fine Art Trade Guild and has passed the Blue Wool Test for lightfastness.

Printing

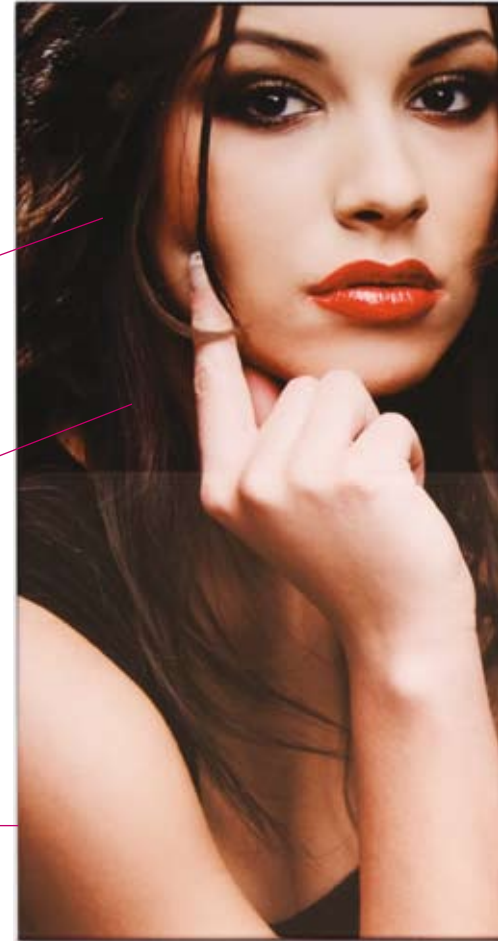

We utilise the very best printer and ink technology available to ensure the widest colour range and the highest quality.

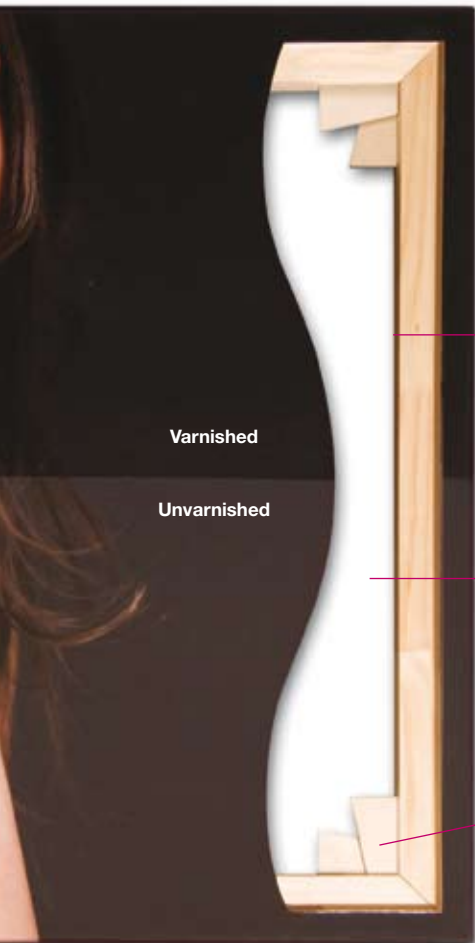

Varnish

All our canvases receive three coatings of a satin giclée varnish, which serves to protect, preserve and enhance. The varnish acts as a UV inhibitor whilst also having the benefit of increasing the density of the print to offer deeper blacks and reds, and brighter yellows. As well as preventing the canvas from cracking during the stretching process it also offers protection against moisture and abrasion.

Stretching

We utilise both machine and hand stretching for the neatest finish, with corners which are finely hand cut and overlaid to reduce canvas bulk for the very best presentation.

The beautiful thick cotton texture of canvas enhances your photographic images and gives them the genuine “art canvas” look.

Finish

Our canvases are supplied neatly taped on the back, with a unique hanger which allows the canvas to sit flush against the wall, as opposed to a strung canvas which tilts away from the wall. Each is protected by crystal clear cellophane wrap and supplied with a certificate of archival quality.

Stretcher Bars

We only use the best stretcher bars available. Made from winter cut, fingerjointed and laminated Baltic pine: winter cut to reduce the sap content – w finger jointed to ensure a knot-free and straight bar – laminated to offer extra strength.

Wedged corners

Canvas being a natural product will contract and expand over time, sometimes causing the canvas to sag. By using traditional wedged corners, our canvases can be re-tensioned without the need to remove the canvas from the stretcher bar. Simply by tapping the wedges with a small hammer, the canvas is restored to its original condition.

Accents

Versatile Minimalism

Accents is one of the most minimalist presentations available and hugely versatile. Photographs are sealed using a textured laminate allowing the surface to be touched and even wiped down without risk to the photograph. The laminated photograph is then bonded to a 6mm board and carefully set into a rimless deep frame. The overall effect is three dimensional and looks particularly stunning when used as a group.
